

Above: Parapan has been used to create a workstation peninsula that is the focal point of this relaxing kitchen by Bath Kitchen Company. The pastel pale grey is more subtle and easier to live with than white and has been further softened by an upholstered window seat. Kitchens from £25,000 (01225 312003 or www.bathkitchencompany.co.uk)
Left: This Chiselwood kitchen is a mixture of oak, zebrano, burr oak and walnut to give a rich combination of grains. The worktops are Pegasus white granite and timber. Chiselwood kitchens start from £35,000 (01522 704446 or www.chiselwood.co.uk)
Below: The brief in this Mowlem & Co kitchen was to bring a contemporary design into what had previously been two rooms without much light. Light-coloured units, a walnut breakfast bar and gold and brown granite worktops combine for a modern effect. In the living area the flooring changes from beige stone to oak floorboards. Kitchens from around £30,000 (020 7610 6626 or www.mowlemandco.co.uk)
